TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 9.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION (Including Postage), PER MONTH, 30c.; PER YEAR, $3.50.

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,913

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-ci

Circulation Books Always Open

"WORLD" GROWTH

DURING "ONE TERM!"

Number of "WORLDS" Printed During the Week Ending September 27, 1884 (Last Presidential Campaign):

*

711,200.

NUMBER OF "WORLDS" PRINTED DURING THE WEEK ENDING SEP-TEMBER 29, 1888:

1,937,370.

IS IT A JEKYLL-HYDE AFFAIR?

A Scotland Yard detective has concocted a theory in the case of the Whitechapel murders which is almost as remarkable as the crimes themselves. He believes that the butcheries are the work of a fiendish Mr. Hyde whose second-self is a Dr. Jekyll possessed of large wealth and moving in the best London society. The detective claims to have struck the trail of this incarnation of the novelist's conception. He asserts that his Dr. Jekyll, when disposed to give Mr. Hyde a holiday, closes the door of his handsome residence at the West End of the city upon himself, gets into a cab, which he leaves at a convenient spot at the East End, and enters the recking district of Whitechapel a veritable Mr. Hyde. There his instincts become as savage and brutal as those of the original character in the fiction, and he indulges them in the manner which has so terrified the Londoners and so puzzled the police.

According to this officer's theory not only are the Whitechapel horrors the work of a real, living Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, but are attributed to the novel itself or to its production on the stage. The story, working on a morbid mind, has, in the detective's judgment, suggested the idea of the double existence to the suspected person and laid the foundation for the practical application of the author's conceit.

Whatever amount of credence may be given to the officer's theory, it cannot fail to increase the excitement caused by the butcheries and to deepen the mystery by which they are surrounded. It adds a still more weird character to the brutal murders. even if it does not promise much the direction of the detection of the criminal. However, it is to be hoped that if the detective is not mistaken he will soon lay hands on Mr. Hyde, and that Dr. Jekyll will suffer the penalty of his wicked partner's crimes.

A VICTIM OF THE CORNER. "Old Hurch's corner," as the recent gambling in wheat is called on the markets, has sent one of the "cornered" victims to his grave and desolated a happy home. The senior member of the well-established firm of WILLIAMS, BLACK & Co., finding his business broken down and his firm driven to suspension by the "squeeze" of the Chicago speculator, foolishly sought refuge from his troubles in death. Yesterday he left his house after breakfast, took a room at the Grand Central Hotel and then shot himself through the head. The Central Labor Union did not use extravagant language when a few days ago it denounced the promoters of Trusts and the speculative gamillers in "corners." whose efforts are directed towards raising the cost of the necessaries of life, as criminals who ought to be punished by the law. To-day such operations have raised the price of sugar, coal and bread, besides having driven to bankruptcy many honorable business

What confidence can the people have in political parties when they see month after month and year after year pass by without any real effort on the part of Republicans or Democrats in Congress or State Legislatures to invoke the power of the law against the continuance of these grave public evils?

GOV. HILL'S ADDRESS.

Gov. Hill made a plain, convincing address to the Labor organizations of the city at the Cooper Union last night. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity, and could have been filled had it been four times as large as it is.

The Governor made it clear to his audience that the workingman's best "protection" is organization. Wages would be lower than they are, despite high tariff and heavy taxation, if Labor Unions did not force employers into some sort of justice towards their employees. The Governor cited facts in support of his arguments, and especially recommended the more complete organization of women wagecarners, not alone for their own sakes, but for the better protection of male labor, with which they come in competition. The Governor gave a brief history of the tures. ...

the working classes and fully explained of his veto of the Sax reasons ton bill. His address was listened to with attention, and it was made evident to his hearers that his earnest efforts in the interest of labor are the basis of the attacks of his enemies on an administration whose efficiency they cannot deny and whose honesty they dare not question.

The Tribune takes the trouble to answer correspondent of THE WORLD, who inquires: What is THURMAN's weight?" The Tribune says that all the candidates will be put on the scales next month, and that HARRISON and Monron will then be found to have more weight than CLEVELAND and THURMAN. This is probably true, only the Tribune's orthography is at fault. The word should be spelled " w.a.i.t."

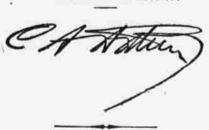

Everybody, with the exception of criminals and crooks, will rejoice that Chief Byrnes has recovered from his recent serious sickness and is back at his post. It will not take many days to restore his strength and make him as vigorous as ever.

A Democratic Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States put on the robes vesterday for the first time in twenty-four years. Chief-Justice Chase succeeded Chief-Justice Taney in December, 1864.

To-day is the first day of registration in this city and the second day in Brooklyn. No good citizen should postpone the duty of registering if he can possibly perform it today. The sooner the better.

Mr. HEWITT accepts Boss Power's nomins tion for Mayor, "goes in strong" for Boss Power's slate, including MIKE MURPHY for Sheriff, and denounces Tammany's machine methods.

OUR AUTOGRAPH COLLECTION.

A cariculty of patchwork recently received in dichmond, Va., from Norfolk, is a mantel lambre quin made of sixty-six badges collected at the Gettysburg reunion last July.

WORLDLINGS.

The Rev. John Carroll, of St. Mary's Church Chicago, is ninety-one years old, and is believed t be the oldest priest in the country. He is of Irish parentage and was ordained in 1820.

One of the most accomplished horsewomen San Francisco is Miss Jessie Fair, who not only ooks well in the saddle but rides with spirit and grace. Her horse is a beautifuul dapple gray that cost $1,000, and she has recently purchased a milkwhite ateed for $500.

Mrs. Julia Bayless, of Charleston, Ind., possesser wooden wine tray that was once owned by liernan Blennerbassett, who was connected with the Aaron Burr conspiracy at the beginning of the sentury. The light-colored wood is stained with wine that was spilled, as Mrs. Bayless, imagines, curing the secret conclaves of the conspinators.

Lord Bereford, who arrived in the Francisco ew days ago from Japan, took pains, while travelling on the east coast of Africa, to visit many of he localities made famous in Rider Baggard's "She." On one spot where two tribes fought a battle, in which 2.000 men were siain. His Lords' ship picked up a number of human bones, which he prizes highly as souvenirs.

Charles H. Hoyt's latest and most successful skit, flighty newspaper correspondent. The correspondent has skirts on and the newspaper is a society journal. The character is admirably realized by Mrs. Alice Walsh, who suggests with a great deal

Mrs. Alice Walsh, who suggests with a great deal of success and artistic eleverness the flippant and trresponsible methods of these women scribblers, who bring reproach on the profession of journal-lem. The character is sacched from an original, as is Mr. Hoyt's hank werever be can.

The original in this case is a native of Charlestowa, New Hampshire, where Hoyt's home is located. In an unfortunate hour for her, a Boston journal printed one of her paragraphs and she has been a terror through the entire region ever since. She scours the country side for scandalous gossip, and prints it in the papers of the neighboring towns. She neglected her home and her children to such an extent that her husband was compelled to secure a divorce. The only regret that she was not the divorce of some one clac beside herself, so not the divorce of some one class beside herself, so that she could make a paragraph of it. The "Brass Monkey" comes to the Bijou Opera House next week.

Mrs. Valentine's Deed Is Vold Chief Justice Barnard has decided that Mrs. Catherine W. Valentine's transfer of her house

No. 19 Cranberry street, to Dr. Hermann T. Richardt was void on the ground of undue influence, want of consideration and fraud.

What Alled the Horse.

Artist's Friend (after regarding the picture critically).—That's a peculiar looking picture that you call "Turned Out to Die." What's the reason of Artist-I'm sketching it in distemper. "Yes, I see-horse distemper."

Somerset Woollen Bills Burned. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD, I SKOWHEGAN, Me., Oct. 9. - The Somerset Woollen Mills at East Madison were destroyed by fire last night. Loss, $50,000; insurance on building and stock, $19,000.

Dr. Greene's New Free Private Lecture to

Gentlemen Only. Dr. Greene, the eminent specialist in the cure of servous and chronic diseases, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York, will deliver in Chickering Hall on Wednesday evening, Oct. 10, at 8 o'clock, a new free private lecture to gentlemen only, illustrated by the stereopticon. This new private icc-ture, "The Philosophy of Manbood," is of the atmost possible interest, being upon those great questions which are of the most vital importance to men. Admission is free and gentlemen should not miss this most powerful of all Dr. Greene's lec-

DRIFT CAUGHT HERE AND THERE BY "EVENING WORLD" REPORTERS.

Sparrows Furnish a New and Elevating

"Chicken disputes" are now somewhat out of fashion in the vulgar sporting world, but cock-sparrow fights are comparatively

A young man who recently witnessed an encounter between two sparrows told the proceedings to an Evening World reporter the other day.

Bread crumbs, soaked in brandy, were scattered in a favorable place and a number of sparrows eagerly ate them. Becoming stupid, two plump birds were easily scooped into a net by a young man.

The birds were placed in a paper box and kept confined for half a day. Then the points of two derning needles were securely inserted in tiny pieces of wood and fastened with thread and elastic bands, one to each leg of the sparrows, thus answering the pur-pose of gaffs, like those fastened to gameose of gaffs, like those fastened to game ocks previous to a battle in a pit.

The sparrows, being kept for so long

The sparrows, being kept for so lon-time without food, became hungry and refor fight. A few young sports gathered in a Broadway building downtown to witness the encounter and laid some small wagers on the

The birds were let loose in the middle of the room and immediately faced one another, with feathers ruffled like fighting cocks, cager for the fray.

They dashed viciously at each other two or three times and made the feathers fly. they flew upward and around the room, peck-ing savagely and chirping like mad. Alight-ing on the floor again, they renewed the bat-tle, leaping up and burying the sharp gaffs in each other's bodies.

They fought all around the room for half an hour, and finally got into a corner, where both made a last desperate effort, and, coming against each other savagely, they dropped dead, one burying its gaff in its antagonist's head and the other stabled to the heart. The young men enjoyed the encounter im-mensely and declared all bets off.

To the Effect that Trade Dollars Aren't A ways What They Seem.

Why the sum of $6 in bills should be the price asked for an ordinary-looking trade dollar is a question that has perplexed a great many travellers through Maiden lane.

There is such a coin in the window of a jewelry store on that thoroughfare, and it certainly looks just as innocent as any other piece of the same denomination. It rests comfortably on a heavy plush cushion, and the date, 1877, can easily be seen.

An Evenino World reporter examined the coin from the sidewalk, but did not detect anything unusual in its appearance; and when he entered the place and to dollar over and over in his hand and turned the discover nothing unusual in its size, weight or appearance,
"Well, I'll show you," said the jeweller, and suiting the action to the word, he pressed a spring-invisible to the reporter and the top of the coin flew open.

"There," said he, "look at that. You

"There," said he, "look at that, your put either your own, or your best girl's picture in it."

bure enough, the coin had been hollowed out, a frame work had been put in, and a ap fitted neatly over the whole contrivance. You see, we have to charge a good price for them, because it takes two coins to make a case, and then there is a great deal of workmanship on one of them. They are selling very well now, being bought mostly by love-sick broker's clerks."

A Masterpiece of the Pipe-Makers' Art and Patience.

A beautiful 'specimen of the pipe-makers art can be seen in the window of a dealer in meerschaum pines on Broadway, in the neighborhood of Canal street.

This pipe is fully 12 inches long by 5 high. and is delicately carved out of meerschaun and amber. It represents two hills. On one side of the hills fully a dozen goats are taking their breakfast, and on the other side there is a cetty little cottage. A Female Scribbler Burlesqued.

One of the humorous character sectches in and that he considered it was worth $250 It took one man six months to complete the billudelphings Erlay Stenks Cut Former Steeplechaser.

EATING A RACE-HORSE.

Cut up into big steaks and served as a filet of beef t a dinner at the Philadelphia Club was the fate of Pandora, the famous steeplechaser, who was the heroine of the Rose Tree Hunts and known to all patrons of the city turf races and to the member of the National Guard. Pandora was shot because of incurable lameness. After she had died withou a struggle the choicest meat was cut from her bones and taken to the cuisine of the Philadelphi Club, where the chef was sworn to secreey, and the meat was disguised as a joint of beef. Dr.

Clab, where the chef was sworn to secreey, and the meat was disguised as x joint of beef. Dr. Rush S. Hnidekoper, who bought Pandora thriteen years axo, gave a dinner at the Phindeiphia Clab, and one of the dishe on the menu card read:

"Falet à la Fandora."

Nobody knew except Dr. Hnidekoper that the course was a part of poor old Pandora's body. The guests supposed that the dish was named in honor of the old steeplechaser, whem they had seen take many a ditch and fence, and come in the winner of many an exciting tace. After the filet had been eaten and ponounced very toothsome by the guests. Dr. itunekoper remarked that he was glad of his guests' appreciation for his favorite horse, 'for,' he sate,' you have just caten her."

The guests looked at each other in amazement, and after a short interval of deadly stience there was a foar of lau after. Then in an instant every one seemed to remember Pandora as he had seen her at the last meet, and in reverential slience the company rose to their feet, lifted their glasses to their hap and sipped in soleme slience to the memory of the old gray mare they had just devoured. Fandora's first puthic appearance was at the Rose Tree Hunt, in a hot steeplechase. The first few years that she was in Philadelphia she won cleven sliver trophics. She was quick to take a fence. At the Pottstown encampment in September, 1887, Pandora leaped over the regimental colors that were lying across two stacks of tayoneticel gues. Col. Honnaffon had dared br. Hudekoper to make the jump. He pointed Pandora's head towards the glistening bayonets, gave her the bride and she scaped into the air, clearing the cold pinnacle of sicel and landing on her haunches on the other side of the stacked grus. Dr. Hudekoper, in speaking of the dinner, said: 'All horse meat is as good as beef; it is a play that horse meat is as good as beef; it is a play

Death of a Once Leading Lawyer. Ex-Judge Walter S. Pinckney, once a well-known real-estate lawyer, died in Bellevue Hospital yeserday, aged fifty-seven. The decessed came of an excellent family and had a flourishing law business until twenty years ago, when he was elected Judge of the Seventh Judicial District. After becoming a politician he acquired a fondness for drink, which interfered with his usefulness. He died in the alcoholic ward of the hospital. The died in the alcoholic ward of the hospital. The body will be interred at Greenwood to-day.

Guests at the Hotels.

Capt. J. B. Latelle, of Montreal, is at the Hotel Brunswick. Gen. Joseph T. Torrence, of Chicago, are at the Windsor Hotel.

Gen. George S. Batcheller, of Saratoga, is a late arrival at the Gilsey House. D. W. Sartiett, Secretary of the Chipese Lega-tion at Washington, is at the Grand Hotel. A prominent guest a: the Everett House is ex-Attorney-General Denis O'Brien, of Watertown.

REGULATE the regulator by the use of WARNER's LOO CANIN SABBAPARILLA. Sold by all druggists. 1.0 LABOR'S OVATION TO GOV. HILL.

Cooper Union Held the Biggest Gathering of Workingmen Ever Known.

Last night was a great night for honest labor and momentous to the workingmen of this city.

The large hall of Cooper Institute never held a larger crowd. The place was packed and jammed with gennine workingmen who heartily support Gov. Hill. There were at least 5,000 people who were unable to get inside the doors. The police had to stop the entrance of people at 7.45.

When Gov. Hill was escorted to the platform the assembled workingmen cheered him for five minutes. He never received a heartier release.

artier welcome. The great throng was a bona fide gathering of workingmen, and every word of Gov. Hill's speech was attentively listened to. He held his vast audience to the end of his speech. His telling points were duly appreciated and loudly applauded.

Gov. Hill's explanation of his veto of the Saxton Electoral Reform bill appeared to satisfy all his hearers. He showed the un-constitutionality of the bill, its gross de-fects and the power it placed in the hands of a few election officers. He said that the bill, if it had become a law, would have disfran-chised thousands of voters. When the Governor had finished his explanation of the Saxton bill and had given an exhaustive review of its unjust provisions, the audience arose and cheered for several There is no doubt that last night's meeting of the workingmen of this city to hear Gov.

Hill was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in New York.
The workingmen should feel proud of the welcome they extended to their true friend David B. Hill.

Notes in the Labor Field, The Miscellaneous Section meets to-night.

Organized labor will sustain Gov. Hill because he has been its best friend. Gov. Hill struck the keynote last night when he said that it is organization that maintains wages and not high tariff.

Cigar-makers are descring Havana on account of the strike and leaving for Key West and Tamps, Pla. Several Havana firms have yielded to the demands of the union men and their hands have returned to week.

Many workingmen had been waiting to hear the Governor explain his reto of the Sexton Ballot Reform bill, and they are now convinced that he was right. The Governor is not the man to veto a substantial labor measure. Joe W. McCann, the lightning compositor, won

Edward Conklin, a popular leader of organized labor and an old New Yorker who has held posi-tions of trust in Progressive Painters No. 1, will be the Labor party candidat: for Assembly in the Fifteenth District, where the Republicans will probably indorse him, as well as the good Demo-crats. All the prominent labor men connected with the organized labor in this country, were at Cooper Union last night to hear Gov. Hill. The greatest portion of the vast nudience consisted of union men, some of whom came a long distance to see their friend and hear him speak. Thomas B. Barry, who lately resigned his posof the Knigata of Labor, and Michael Breslin, of District Assembly No. 49, will apeak in Cooper John itali to-morrow evening. It is said toat

The quiet, but active and successful work done women of the Feather-Workers, during the late strike of the latter, has been somewant of a sur-prize to organized labor. Though the cause was a just one, without organized effort every feather-worker in this city would have been ground down to starvation wages, but the price of feathers would be just the same.

THEY TALKED ABOUT WOMAN.

And These Ministers Seemed to Agree tha a Mother Deserved All Praise. [SPICIAL TO THE WORLD, I

he Orthodox ministers in session here Rev. M. Faik Gjertsen read a paper on "Woman's Relo tion in the Church." He held that she is qualified by nature to a position of consecration in the home, o the secular and sacred education of her calidren. and in the church and society to the need of her sex. During the lively discussion which to lowed Rev. M. Wilkinson denounced the growing crime of infanticide and the decrease in the number of calldren. He said the are was growing to look upon having tamilles as a disgrace when it should be the highest honor awoman could attain. Rev. G. L. Morrid maintained that a called mad the right to be well born, and that matricide was equally criminal. By that, he explained, was meant that it a mether could not near atrong, healthy, perfect children she had no right to bear them. Rev. Mr. Gjetten said the mother of a large family was wornly of more praise than Miss Frances Willard, the leader of the W. C. T. U., who went about devoting herself to a grand cause. It was true, but who had all the honor and glory to compensate her for her intor?
"Miss Willard is a personal friend of mine," said Dr. Burreil, of the Weatminster Presbyterian Church, "and no one admres her more than I.
She has devoted her whole life to the cause, and she is a grand, noble, unselfish woman; yet I am convinced that she has done the cause of temperance irretrievable injury by assuming a min's place. That is not her clement. A woman should not go into the pulpit, and when she does she weakens her cause. That is the work of a man," disgrace when it should be the highest honor a

TRYING TO EXCLUDE THE COOLIES. Each Incoming Steamer Brings Swarms

Them to San Francisco. SEPECIAL TO THE WORLD, ! SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2. - Judge Hoffman, acting as Circuit Judge, has finally set Friday morning for arguments why certificate Chinamen and "prior residents" shall be emitted to the right of writs of habeas corpus. Applications for forty-five writs of habeas corons for Chinese passengers of the steamer City of New York were made by the Chluese lawyers to-day. As the made by the Chinese lawyers to-day. As the steamer leaves for Bong Kong to-motrow, and she came into port before President Cleveland approved the Exclusion act, the United States Attorney did not oppose the application.

Collector Hager has not yet decided whether chinese in transit can come to this port. Merchants and students can come to this port. Merchants and students can come and go as before.

The Duke of Westminster, of the Canadian Pacific line, and the Occidental and Oriental steamer Beigie came into port yesterday, loaded with thinamen as usual. None of them will be re-Beiric came into port vesterday, loaded with chinamen as usual. None of them will be released, however, until next Friday anyway, and as the Surveyor of the Port, Mr. Tinnin, has ordered his deputies and inspectors to keep strict guard about the wharves near the steamers, and allow no Chinese to approach them or communicate in any manner with those on board, the norde of slave-dealers and "consina" who swarm upon each incoming steamer to distribute instructions among new arrivals as to what names to give and what answers to make to questions, will not be able to make the coolies' landing as easy as usual.

Local News Condensed. Mr. Daniel O'Shea has been elected President of the Kerrymen's Patriotic and Benevolent Associa-tion of New York.

At 6 o'clock this morning fire in George T. Morgan's furniture store, at 1520 Broadway, did a damage of 500.
At the Fifty-sixth regular meeting of the Society of Medical Juristrutence and State Medicine Thursday evening Oct. 11, the subject of discusation will be the State policy regarding Chinese emigration with reference to leprosy. Meeting at 12 West Tairty-first street.

The sunicipal Council of the Irish National League meets to might at 17 West Twenty-eighth street at 5 o'clock. The programme will be an-hounced and final arrangements made for the grand concert at Cooper Institute Oct. 18, in aid of the Parnell Defense Fund.

All Used Up

Strength all gone, Tired out. Overworked. Feeling onger. Delays are dangerous. The downward tendency of your system must be stopped. You need the toning, strengthening, tuilding up properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla to restore you to lisalth, give you an appelite and make you active, cheerful and willing to work. Hood's bersaparilla is sold by druggists, $1; aix for-5.. krepared by U. I. HOOD & CO., Logell, Mass.

a failure ?" has led to the expression of many ideas and different opinions. But every writer seems to look at the question from his or her standpoint. If they have had happy lives after marriage all is well: if not everything is a failure, and they say so. Mrs. Brown is happily married, but Mrs. Jones made a mistake.

The question cannot be decided from this kind of argument. We must go back fifteen or twenty years, take 100 marriages, and I thing we shall find seventy-five happy homes. Then marriage is not a failure, because there will only be about 25 per cent, of all the marriages a failure.

I will mention some of the marriages that are failures. A great many people in their heste to get married forget physical and natu-

A little bit of a fellow falls in love with fine, robust, healthy young woman, She marries him because he has money. But, alas, poor fellow, he has little brains and not enough of muscle.

This marriage is a failure from the begin ning—there is no pleusure or satisfaction, especially to the young woman. I have known men and women in the last stages of consumption to get married and leave some poor offspring behind them to suffer. Then people get married who are suffering from diseases. Look around and you will see so many delicate, puny creatures who have been brought into this life afflicted with trouble phentical from the second property.

trouble inherited from their parents. Some attention should be paid to mental qualifications. A fair education on both sides dua-incatons. A fair education on both ades is necessary. Women, however, need not be as well educated as men.

I claim that higher education spoils women for home and domestic duties—young women who pass through the higher branches of Vassar and the normal colleges make poor wives. They are not adapted to be mistresses or servants either.

J. HENRY. 387 Fourth avenue.

His Experience a Hard One.

Permit me to say a few words for the bene fit of your numerous readers who peruse the letters printed daily in your paper on the failure or success of matrimony.

Experience is a wonderful teacher, but I am sorry to say the lesson it has taught me is wery dearly bought. Fifteen winters ago I was a single man, full of fun and frolic, and, like many young men nowadays, ever desirous of sharing the pleasurable moments of my boyhood days in the presence of the opposite sex. By an unfortunate mistake I got entangled in love's silken mesh by a very beautiful little damsel of eighteen summers. beautiful little damsel of eighteen summers After a short time we got buckled, and after a short time again she buckled my nose betwixt her thumb and foreinger, gave it a Sullivan twist, uttering the following:
"The next time I find you down at the door

The next time I and you down as the door talking and jesting with those girls I'll break every lone in your worthless carcass."

I wandered forth and related what had happened to a friend. Mark his sympathy for a married man: "Ha, ha, ha! What did you want to get married for? It serves you fellows just right. When you take upon yourselves to earn a living for two, or a dozen when the time comes, the ladies would be fool sh not to teach a lesson to you. It is not necessary to teil how comfortably I slept that night, supperless, or how good-humoredly I went to work the next morning without breakfast, or how skilfully I man aged to raise ten cents from a fellow-work. man to buy some cakes to satisfe my excellent appetite.

On one occasion the potato-pounder was introduced, but to give all details regarding that well-temenbered quartel would cover too much space in your instructive and inter-ting paper.

To give a full account of our pleasant evenings together for the past fifteen years would over half a dozen papers the size of THE VENING WORLD.

I will terminate by asking all young men who have an idea of getting married to pray fervently for the will of Heaven to allow them to remain single; and all married men to pray for a deliverance from women's tongues, the cares and troubles of married life, and it is nursing little Peter or Mickey after a hard day's work.

Let the old bachelors laugh: they have nothing else to bother them. Like I was fifteen winters ago, when my name was little Dinney, but ever since I buckled up, you see Selfishness the Curse of Matrimony.

To the Editor of The Evening World If marriage is rightly considered, it is not a failure. Take, for instance, an honorable young woman and an honorable young man let them understand one another before get ting married : a courtship of about two years would give both a very good knowledge of either's character. The young woman should not marry because the man has wealth, or be-cause he is a good talker or a singer or a good dancer, or because he is good looking; all these things amount to very, very little in married life. The bright gold can never buy that true love which should exist between way and wife.

man and wife. The whole curse of married life springs from selfisiness. A selfish man or a selfish woman always meets misery. Neither had a true love for the other before marriage, and how can they have it after marriage? Be-sides, they populate the world with ingrates, misers and thieves, for their very characters are transmitted to the offspring. The word are transmitted to the offspring. The word selfishness associated with marriage is the curse of marriage and of the world. Let there be no deceit before marriage; let the wife have no secrets, nor the man no bad habits, for these will all "come home to 10 st," if not to themselves, then to their children, and in either case life will be made miserable.

Get married if you are worthy of mirriage.

THAT SOCIAL CONUNDRUM.

MORE INTERESTING LETTERS ON THE

NOTABLE QUESTION.

Marriage Is a Failure in Only 25 per Centof the Cases, Says One Observant Correspondent — Does Higher Education Spell Wemen for Household Duties—

A Happy Husband's Tribute,

To the Christian, believing in the immortality of the soul, it is a grand privilege to be in their hearts and of being the instrument of their after happy life. To the unbeliever it is a great privilege to have a child the image of father or mother, who remains after the death of the parent. It is a happiness in fact for all married folks to know that when death calls they will live again in their children; their very looks, their actions, their characters, like the beautiful flower which drops its seed this year to bloom afresh the next.

To the Christian, believing in the immortality of the soul, it is a grand privilege to be transled to the image of father or mother, who remains after the calls they will live again in their children; their very looks, their actions, their characters, like the beautiful flower which drops its seed this year to bloom afresh the next.

But let the young man beware of that young woman with "the cool hundred thousand" whom he is looking after, for he will find that she desires to be the sole controller of it. When a man is looking for a wife, or of it. When a man is looking for a wife, or of it. When a husband, let them go down to the sea and throw selfishness overboard, for he sea and throw selfishness overboard, for retained it will bring to the married a ife of misery.

A Warm Tribute to Matrimony.

To the Editor of The Evenine World When people discuss " Is Marriage a Failure?" from the standpoint of happiness they forget their former criterion for the commubial state.

Complaint of one's lot always has a reflex action, for in most cases one is only portraying his own disposition.

Marriage is a failure when entered into for self-aggrandizement, beauty, social position

To-night as I look around upon my children at play or studies and my patient wife, con-tentment wells up in my heart I never hope to be exceeded in heaven. We started with moderate means, and though at times we could hardly make ends meet, she never complained. Twice have we stood at open graves, and though deep wrinkles furrow her brow, they only draw us closer. Together we have multiplied our joys and diminished our sorrows.

Life is a reflection. We receive as much as we give, and people declaring marriage a failure only exemplify themselves as such.

Willing to Make the Trial.

I have for some time past been deeply interested in the various opinions expressed on this subject, but never found one which corresponded so entirely with my ideas until read "Six-Feet-Two's" version in last ednesday's Evening World, when I decided to answer.

If he still wishes to make "some affectionate girl, about twenty-two, passionately fond of music, with refinement, sensibility and education in household duties, supremel happy," he can do so by stating the fact in next Wednesday's Evening World. Five-Feet-Four.

big glue works there a public nuisance and a menace to health, and has begun proceedings to abolish it.

The Glue Works Must Go.

The Elizabeth Board of Health has declared

FUN FOR AFTER DINNER. Conclusive Evidence.

Myrtle-He's awfully attentive to her, vor

Lily-How far has it gone? Myrtle—Very far, I'm afraid. He held her prayer-book upside down at church yesterday, and I'm sure I heard him say "a woman" instead of "amen."

Humor on an Electric Car.

"Yes," she observed, as the electric car started. "You don't say so!" as the car got to Four centh street. "I wouldn't have believed it," at Grand street and, "Well, I never!" as the Post-Office wa eached. you said, George, but you're very entertainin."

'I ain't said a word," was George's reply,
'What you heard was the buzzin'of the motor, an' I thought it kinder junny to hear you keep an' I thought it kinder junny to hear you keep ejaculatin' every now an' then."

Mr. Rambo's Promise.

[From the Chicago Tribune,]
"Absalom," said Mrs. Hambo, "think of the example you are setting our children. How much longer do you think I can keep the solemn word I made sixteen years ago to love and honor you?"

"Nancy," said Mr. Rambo, deeply touched,
"If you can keep it up for about three weeks longer, till that ten gallons of applejack in the "if you can keep it up for about three week longer, till that ten gallons of applejack in the cellar is gone, I'll reform and become a good man."

Broke the Young Man's Heart.

Editor-in-Chief (kindly, to young man just added to the staff)—You will understand, Mr. Jordieson, that on certain hackneyed themes we avoid wearying the patience of the public. You will not be expected, Mr. Jordieson, for instence, to write any wittleams on the hanans-peel on the sidewalk, the mule, the stovepipe, the church syster, the spring poet, boarding-house butter, the Chicago girl's foot, hair in the soup, the mother-in-law—Bring some water, quick, somebody! He has fainted! to the staff)-You will understand, Mr. Jordleson

An Unfinished Editorial.

[From the Epoch.] Editor (to assistant)-in one of your editorial paragraphs, Mr. Smith, you say that seven perparagraphs, ar. Simile, you say that seven per-sons were drowned in Boston harbor by the upset-ting of a catboat. That is not editorial matter, it is merely a statement of fact. An editorial must express an opinion or sentiment. Assistant—I hadn't quite finished that, sir; I should have added, "This is truly heart-rending."

When baby was sick, we gave ber Castoria, When she was a Child, ahe cried for Castoria When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, When she had Children, she gave them Castoria

Boil

your Overalls

JUMPERS—any or all your working clothes for TWENTY MINUTES in a solution of PYLE'S PEARLINE and WATER. Stir occasionally, then rinse thoroughly-they will look like new. It pays a workman to be clean and tidy. Its far more healthybesides you'll

Save your Old Lady <sup>a</sup> Heap <sup>of</sup> Trouble

Beware offering imitations which they claim to be Pearline, or "the same as Pearline," IT'S FALSE they are not, and besides are dangerous. PEARLINE is never peddled, but sold by all good grocers.

Manufactured only by JAMES PYLE, New York.

CHICKERING HALL

FIRST OF THE FREE COURSE OF NEW LECTURES BY DR. GREENE, OF 25 WEST 14TH ST., NEW YORK.

Wonderfully Beautiful Plustrations and By Far the Best Given by the Octor-A Most Instructive and Entertaining Lecture.

The free illustrated lectures of Dr. Greens, of 35 West The free lithit and leviline of Lor, orders, or as well 14th st., New York, are always popular with the people, but the fact that he began last evening in Chickering Hall an entirely and absolutely new course of lecture, the opening one of which contains by far the most beantiful and magnificent illustrations ever seen in this city, called together an immense and appreciative audience. Dr. Greene is a britisht speaker as well as a most interesting lecturer, and his free lectures, while they vastly entertein the great andiences always present, de a greater good by educating the people upon those great a greater good of educating the people upon those great and important subjects connected with health, its pre-ervation and restoration. Indeed, the Doctor's chief and greatest reputation depends upon his knowledge of dis-case, and his remarkable and even wonderful skill in curing chronic or ingering affections.

We unheeltatingly say that no other physician of the present day has treated no large a number of patients and effected cures in sogreat a proportion of cases as Dr. Greens. Reference to his vast library of case books shows that over a hundred thousand cases of chronic discover has been ready his reference to the vast library of case books. ases have been under his professional care in the last ease have been under me processes, but ther are absolutely correct, as has been verified by us, and the immensity of the numbers of the sick treated and cured only proves the almost boundless popularity reene as a physician.

Now let us look to the reasons which have made De.

Now let us look to the reasons which have made Dr. Greene so emiment in the field of his great specialty—the treatment and curse of nervous and chronic disease. It is a fact that during every age some one or more physicians rise to prominence by new discoveries of wonder. ful curative incidence, or by taking a new departure ful curative incidence, or by taking a new departure from the recognized routine of other physicians. It is because Dr. Greene has done both of these that public attention has been carled to his great work as a physician. One of his departures from the standard rules of the medical fraternity is to give consultation and advice to Absolutely Free of Charge. This is a saving of thousands of dollars to the poor, or

This is exactly of the often excessive consulting fees to those upon whom the often excessive consulting fees of physicians are a heavy builder. When people are suffering with some pervous affection, a chronic disease, or some difficulty of long standing, it is absolutely necesor some dimently of long standing, it is absolutely neces-sary that they have the advice and treatment of a phys-cian. To many the fees enarged by physicians, together with the coat of having prescriptions filled at druggists, are a serious drain; and it is not to be wondered at therefore, that the people crowd Dr. Greene's office daily where they have that the people crowd Dr. daily, where they know that the most eminent and skilful advice can be had without charge. They know, furthermore, that the sole cost, if they decide to take his remedies and be cured of their disease, is only for the necessary medicines.

But while the fact that Dr. Greene gives consultation free to the sick accounts in part for his immense prastice, which extends all over the United States, the sick coming or writing to him from every point, there is something else which explains his almost marvellous suscess in the cure of disease. This is the fact that he uses in his treatment only harmless vegetable remedies, many of the curative powers of which he has himself discov-ered. His remedies are made from Nature's true medicines, those strength-giving and health-restoring plants and herbs which a Divine Creators o wondrously provides for the relief and cure of our numan ille.

The people know and understand that, in adopting the use of Dr. Greene's vegetable medicines, they are not filling their systems with poisoneus and injurious drugs. They realize from many trials at the hands of ordinary physicians that poisonons drugs do not and cannot cure, physicians that poisonons drugs do not and cannot cure, and that patients are often made worse by the injurious after effects of such poisonous prescriptions. How different the people feet in regard to the harmiem regets ble remedies of Dr. Greene! They know, from the very nature of these mild but efficacious remodies, that they can do no harm. They know that children and delease invalids an eake them without terr of the allease. invalids can take them without fear of the slightest, in-jurious effects, and everybody is assured of their wenerful power in curing disease. Indeed the

Marvellous Powers

of these vegetable medicines in curing nervous and chronic diseases are a source of wonder and anasoness to these who, after naving softered from some disease for long months or years, are by their use restored to cound and perfect health. Thousands of suffering she have tried treatment by poisonous drugs and falled a get relief have by using these remarkable regetable. emedies been easily and readily cured. Thousands who, from repeated failure to be cured by poisonous drugs, had come almost to believe their cases incurable, have by the use of Dr. Greene's regetable medicines een restored to perfect and permanent health.

been restored to perfect and permanent health.

We know that these are strong statements to make,
and we should not make them had we not substantiated
the facts and proved their fruth in every particular.

Those who are sick or partial invalids from chronic. diseases have suffered too long from the failure of pos-sonous drugs to cure their cases, and when we know positively and certainly that this treatment of Dr. Greene's will in almost every case cure disease and re-store health, it is but just and right to the people that the fact abould be plainly stated, in order that the many thousands who languish under the burden of disease may know where and by what means they can be cared.

We speak strongly, therefore, because we know whereof we speak. We have seen cases of chronic diseases fade and sink under treatment by poisonous drugs; and we have seen the same invalids under the use of Dr. Greene's vegetable remedies gain rapidly until was restored. We have seen the poor, who had spent their all in the vain effort to find health, cured by these wonderful medicines of Dr. Greene at a trilling expense.

The sick and suffering can, therefore, take hope, for there is a cure for all. The discouraged and disheartened can most certainly take hope, for their failure to be cured is because they have not yet adopted the right treatment. We would advise all sufferers from any form of nervous or chronic disease to consult Dr. Greens without delay, and by piscing themselves under his treatment they can be assured of a beneficial result. We are pleased to say that all who desire to take advantage of free consultation with this most emment and vantage of free consultation with this most eminent and shiffin physician can do so personally or by letter, at the office, 25 West 14th st., New York. Remember that con-sultation and solvice are in all cases absolutely free, the only charge in any case being for the necessary medi-cines to effect a cure. Dr. Greene has issued a new book, "Facts Worth Knowing," which will be sent free by mail to any address.

This evening at So'clock Dr. Greene gives, in Chiokering Hall, a lecture upon "The Wonders of the Microscope and the Germ Theory of Disease." This inclume is of absorbing interest, showing the most curious stare options views and opening to the sight a new world, with its wonders of life, its marvels of infinitesi

Admission is free to all.
On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, in Chickering Hall, Dr. Greene will de iver a new free private lecture, to gentlemen only, on "The Philosophy of Manhood." This new private lecture to gentlemen is of the highest cossible interest, being upon those great questions which are of the most vital importance to man. The lecture will be illustrated by the stereopticon. Admission is free, and no gentleman should miss this most powerful stence beyond the power of vision of the human era-of all Dr. Greene's lectures.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be a free private lecture to ladies only. All ladies are condular mytted.

[From Time. 1

hat magnificent welcome and the deafening shouts of an enthusiastic crowd on Forty-second

That splendld band, those superb decorations, street yesterday, were not the accessories of a campaign demonstration. A train had just sud-ceded in getting into the Grand Central Statica over the New York and New Haven Railroad, 05

Loyal to the Last. Husband (returning from the mountains)-Are you chilly, my dear? Wife-I'm nearly frozen, John. Who was that gentleman in the straw hat and linen duster who nat drove by?

Husband—The landlord of the hotel below here. Nature at a Summer Hotel. While playing lambs are frisking.
Their succeient chops for quarters,
The whisks are busily winsking.
In the sands of expectant porters.

The upland's blooms are charming, The delis with dews are wet, But their a lence is sharming When viewed with a fond brunche.

You walk with her in the meadow Where the birds are all uncaged, but you wise you were in Yeddo When you find that you're engaged.